

The Reverend Melvin B. Tuggle East Baltimore Community Excellence Award 2022

Honoring outstanding graduate students, residents, and fellows who contribute to the health of East Baltimore by working as a partner in hands-on community work.

Brancati Center for the Advancement of Community Care
The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

Background

The Reverend Melvin B. Tuggle Community Award was established in honor of lifelong East Baltimore resident Rev. Melvin B. Tuggle, II. Rev. Tuggle was the founder and chair of Heart, Body, and Soul, Inc., a partnership between CURE (Clergy United for Renewal in East Baltimore) and The Johns Hopkins Schools of Public Health, Medicine, Nursing, and The Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Under Rev. Tuggle's leadership, a strong liaison between the East Baltimore community and Johns Hopkins in East Baltimore was established. Rev. Tuggle was instrumental in obtaining grants to assure opportunities for members of the Hopkins community, faculty and students to generate and test new collaborative models of disease prevention and health promotion in the community. Rev. Tuggle strongly valued compassion and heart in the delivery of public health initiatives.

Rev. Tuggle extended his efforts nationally to train others in neighborhood-centered public health programs in both cities and in rural America. His book on how to partner with churches to improve health through community engagement, It Is Well With My Soul, was published by the American Public Health Association and stands as a primer in best practices for successful community partnerships. The Brancati Center for the Advancement of Community Care offers this award to recognize and promote exceptional students, residents and fellows focusing on the health of East Baltimore in a sustainable way.

This $2,000 award highlights the importance of partnership between Johns Hopkins and the efforts of community leaders in East Baltimore. $1,000 will be given to the student/fellow and $1,000 will be given to the community partner.
